PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I hope you all had a wonderful holiday and are ready to kick in and have a great 2011. We have a busy six months ahead of us, with the February Show and Sale, the CSSA Convention in April and the June Show and Sale. Think how happy we will be in July! I'm just happy that I got to spend four hours outside yesterday in the sunshine. I cleaned up the greenhouse and pulled some weeds on the hill. Now it's time to go to work, but I may sneak back outside today for a little bit.

Our Holiday Party was a great success. We had a record number of attendees. Decorations were created by Jean O'Daniel, Diana Wilson,

Linda Stewart, Sara Clayton, and Don Patterson. Herb Stern provided wine and merriment as the Cork Dork. Lee Badger gathered the gift plants. Ken Blackford and Katya DeMerritt greeted people at the door. Ruth Hendricks and her crew provided a wonderful lunch. Pam Badger as the Dessert Queen organized the potluck desserts that we all pigged out on. Ed DeLollis and Kelly Griffin worked with our Auctioneer to provide a great auction. Thanks to Western Cactus and Ed DeLollis for donating the bare root plants for the auction. Thanks also to Vanessa Nelson, Mark Fryer, Ken Kelly, Diana Wilson and others for donating items to be auctioned. Any event is impossible to put on without lots of people working to make it happen. Thank you all for making this a great party!

At the Holiday Party we announce the 2010 Volunteer of the Year. Much to his surprise it was Jim DeForest. Jim has been a regular volunteer at the Park formerly known as Wild Animal for several years, working in the Old World Succulent Garden, pulling weeds, hacking at Euphorbias, planting whatever I find, and just being a solid workmate. He also headed our cashier team at the June sale - through some interesting difficulties - and works the cashier team at our regular meetings. He also participates in activities, brings in show plants, baking, bringing in boxes and being available for whatever need arises. Thanks for all your hard work Jim!

Jim DeForest

Our Winter Show and Sale is scheduled for the 12th of February. We are going to try something different this year. The Show will be outside under a canopy. This leaves the entire Room 101 for Sales. We hope that it makes a better experience for everyone. At the January meeting there will be sign up sheets for volunteers. We will need additional security in the Show area and we need cashier teams for three registers. We will also need people to sign up members. We will have our usual members only shopping from 9 to 10. At last look only about 1/4 of the membership has renewed their dues. If you want to get in before 10 and not stand in a long line to do so, you need to renew your membership in January. You can do that by paying at the January meeting or sending your membership to Collette Parr. The information is at the end of the newsletter.

The Convention is just around the corner and Convention Chair Buck Hemenway has swung into overdrive for the final preparations. Chair and volunteers please plan on attending a meeting before the regular Convention meeting at 11am on January 8th. If there is time afterwards you can break into your teams for further discussion before the Society meeting starts at 1pm.

One of our responsibilities for the convention is the centerpieces. For the closing banquet we are going to make succulent centerpieces. This will take the form of wreathes, arrangements, dish gardens and whatever else we think of to plant. I believe the theme is "Anything Goes". Be sure to see the article in this newsletter.

For those of you interested in signing up for the convention, the information is available on our website and was in the last issue of the CSSA Journal.

The CSSA Affiliate Day at the Huntington is January 15th. We are organizing a bus to haul us up there. Please see the info in this newsletter. If you are going to attend, but not riding the bus, let me know so I can put you on a list to send to them. This is another reason to pay your dues. An up-to-date membership card will work as ID to get you in.

We are looking for a treasurer for the new board. The outgoing treasurer is willing to do a multiple month turn over so you don't have to do everything at once and it will be a great learning relationship. If you are interested in knowing what the job entails please contact me.

The web page is coming along nicely. We are looking for member nurseries and landscapers that would like their information on our web page. If you have input or recommendations for our web page please let Candy Garner know at cgarner1@yahoo.com. Please use "web page" on the subject line of the e-mail.

Today is the 40th birthday of my oldest child. What a change that was for me when she joined the family. Anniversaries of events are a great way of looking back and looking forward. 2011 will be the 50th anniversary year for the San Diego Cactus and Succulent Society. Michael Buckner has agreed to write up an early history of our organization. We will work the anniversary theme into the activities for the year.

Keep dry and warm and enjoy your gardens!

Program speaker

Kelly Griffin

"Aloe Flowers"

Kelly Griffin, our Program Chairman and also the Co-Program Chair for the CSSA Convention, is stepping in at the last moment to replace the intended speaker who was unable to make the date. He has prepared a new program on the flowers of the Aloe plants, his specialties at the Rancho Soledad Nurseries where he works as Curator of xerophytes and is also charged with finding and creating new and different plants that can be utilized in garden settings .

Volunteers Needed To Prepare the Gardens for Convention tour in April

SDCSS has maintained the Old World Succulent Garden and the Baja Garden at the San Diego Zoo Safari Park (formerly know as the Wild Animal Park) for many years. We have a merry band of 'regulars' who were recognized at a December Volunteer Appreciation Brunch at the Park. Not include in the above picture, but attending, were Vanessa Nelson and Cathy Clark.

Volunteers Jim DeForest, Janet Svoboda, Chris Miller and Juergen Menzel were honored at the Volunteer Appreciation Brunch.

The gardens are in pretty good shape, but the winter rains have impacted drainage and encouraged the weeds to do a berzerker on us. We are going to need all the help we can get over the next few months to get them pulled, fix some drainage issues and do trimming and other actions to put forth a show place when the Convention arrives. One of those actions will be labeling plants in the Old World Garden.

As of 1 January the Park is initiating their long awaited security program and our 'regulars' list will become extinct. So if you are interested in volunteering on a regular basis, we will need to submit your name to the park and there is a two hour training they put you through where you learn what is going on in the park and they take your picture for ID. With this formalized program comes some benefits we haven't had in the past so it can be worth your while. We can also arrange for some clean-up events where a one time access can be set up. Let me know what you are interested in doing to support the gardens.

THE HUNTINGTON DESERT FORUM

The SDCSS is considering a bus trip to the Desert Forum (see below for a complete description). This popular event is your opportunity to visit the magnificent grounds and library of the Huntington Botanical Gardens (see <http://www.huntington.org/>). Cost per person will be about $35. This is partially offset by the entrance fee of $20, which is waived for Club members. Attendees are advised to provide their own sack lunches and must present proof of Club membership.

If you are interested in taking the bus trip, contact Chris Miller at c.miller@cox.net or (619) 258-9810. Complete details will be presented at the January 8th Club meeting where a sign-up sheet will be available.

plant of the Month

“Succulent Senecios”

Phyllis Flechsig

Senecio is an enormous genus, of which “only” about 80 are counted as succulent—that is, fleshy enough to live successfully in dry regions. They are members of the huge family Asteraceae (also known as Compositae), whose defining characters are their composite flower heads made up of a group of tiny florets that appear to be one single flower—it is called a capitulum—and that may or may not be surrounded by a group of petal-like ray flowers—in short, these are daisies. Composites form the largest of all plant families—Rowley says there are over 21,000 species—but most of them are not considered to be succulent, so we can ignore the sunflowers, the asters, the, well, daisies, and concentrate on those that we succulent collectors favor. Most of the succulent senecios are native to Africa, particularly the Cape region; a few are from Madagascar or Arabia, and one, Senecio kleinia, is native to the Canary Islands. There is one borderline succulent species from Mexico, a small tree called S. praecox, but it is not common in cultivation in this country.

Capitulum of S. pendulus

There are succulent senecios for a wide variety of tastes and uses. The larger ones, such as S. talinoides ssp. cylindricus, with fine, narrow blue leaves, are good as sprawling shrubs in the landscape. If you prefer upright growth, try S. kleinia, like many of the others a winter grower, which grows in a candelabrum shape and whose yellowish-white flowers in late summer are particularly handsome against a dark background. Then there are the ground-cover types, substitutes for ice plants—S. serpens, with blue leaves and the somewhat similar S. talinoides ssp. mandraliscae (formerly S. mandraliscae).

S. talinoides mandraliscae framing Echinocactus grusonii in the editor's yard

Next, there are the long, dangling types that look good in a hanging basket, such as S. radicans and S. pendulus. Some species stay small and cute: S. citriformis, with little leaves shaped like lemons, as the name implies; or the string-of-pearls type, S. rowleyanus (another candidate for a hanging basket). S. articulatus will give you a little too much of a good thing by abjectly falling apart if you bump it, and every piece will become a new plant. One of my favorites is S. crassissimus, which is a shrublet with purplish leaves borne vertically on the stems. Then there is the one with the unpronounceable name, S. oxyriifolius, which looks a lot like a nasturtium until it puts out its little flower.

S. pendulus in the editor's garden

Many of the succulent senecios have a stripe or a window on one side of each leaf. Most of their flowers are not especially showy, but S. fulgens is a fine specimen with a caudex and bright red flowers.

The reference book that is a necessity for anyone who grows these plants is Gordon Rowley's “Succulent Compositae,” which covers each species with a written description and small but clear photographs. The book also covers the related genus Othonna; if you have seen a small “ice plant” with bluish leaves and yellow daisies, you have seen O. capensis.

Volunteers for the Winter Show and Sale

The Winter Show and Sale are upon us. Your volunteer efforts are needed to ensure its success. Volunteers are needed for the following jobs. Set up on Friday evening, show and sales area set up on Saturday morning, pre-sale security from 9 to 10 on Saturday morning, sales area and show area security during the day Saturday, manning the information table, helping with the luncheon by bringing in a dish and helping with the cleanup afterward. Another very important job is sales assistant. We will also need judge's clerks. The most important job is to stay after the show closes to clean up and restore order to the area.

All of these jobs are vital to the success of the show. Please sign up at the January meeting.

Help with Centerpieces for the CSSA 2011 Convention April 24 – April 29

We are actively seeking donations of items and plants to help us create centerpieces for the closing banquet. "Anything goes" is the theme so start thinking "outside the box" and finding objects that can be planted up with cacti and succulents such as bowls, dishes, pots, teapots, small boxes or crates, shells, baskets, tins, old children's shoes (especially boots), Tonka trucks, urns, bonsai containers, miniature pots etc.

We will also need topdressing, marbles, beads, pebbles, sphagnum moss, coir, ornaments and decorations to adorn the creations.

We will happily take cuttings of small plants like sedums, crassulas, and aeoniums. The do not have to be rooted.

Please bring items to the January meeting.

Please contact Linda Stewart, 858-488-8234, lbs@san.rr.com or Sarah Clayton, 858-705-1475, sclayton@san.rr.com with any questions or suggestions – we'd love to hear from you.
